The UMBC Relationship Violence Prevention Advocates program is a comprehensive program started by a grant from Verizon. The program changes each year and is designed to educate the UMBC Community on specific relationship violence prevention information. The goals of the program are to systematically raise awareness and support for a campus to be without relationship violence and create an environment that encourages healthy relationships and the victims of relationship violence to come forward and receive support.

Specific components of the program include:

- Relationship violence prevention education and training for volunteer students, faculty and staff advocates who represent various groups and populations on campus. These advocates will help to educate the campus community about relationship violence prevention through their networks, and serve as referral sources for those who have experienced or are impacted by relationship abuse/violence or have questions about unhealthy relationships.
- Haven sexual assault prevention training for new students
- Relationship Skills Program via the UMBC Counseling Center
- Awareness, Education and Resources through www.umbc.edu/rvap
- Bystander Intervention training through the Green Dot program (VP Student Affairs Office)
